U.S. Moves Are Designed to Stall Red China

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials said today current U.S. diplomatic and military moves in the Far East are designed to forestall any possible outbreak of fighting between Red China and Nationalist China.

President Kennedy is expected to discuss the Formosa situation and the buildup of Chinese Communist forces opposite the Nationalist-held area at a news conference late today.

One question he may clarify is U.S. policy with respect to the defense of the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu which lie close to the Communist mainland. The policy laid down under the Eisenhower administration was that the United States would actively support the Nationalist defense of those islands only if a Red attack on them was considered to be the first step in an attack on Formosa.

The United States has sent units of the 7th Fleet into Formosan waters, possibly with the dual purpose of defending the Nationalist stronghold against any assault and at the same time discouraging the Nationalist forces from moving against the Red Chinese.

George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operations, said Tuesday night he foresees "no real trouble" in the Formosa Strait. He told newsmen in Las Vegas, Nev., that he doubts Red China will launch any serious attack on the offshore islands.

The United States is reported to have told Red China through its ambassador at Warsaw that this country would not support any invasion attempt by Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

At the same time American Ambassador John Moors Cabot is said to have warned Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping Nan against any Communist strike at the Chinese Nationalists.

Formosa Strait situation at a Warsaw meeting last Saturday.

ing heavy troop reinforcements

Tension in Paragould Plant Strike

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—The Emerson Electric Co. began hiring workers today to replace striking employees.

Jim Disinger, manager of Emerson's Paragould plant, said only 60 per cent of the first shift reported to work today. It was the same percentage that reported Tuesday, he said.

The company had told the approximately 175 strikers that if they did not return to work today, permanent replacements would be hired.

About half the 350 workers remained on the job June 18 when the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Mechanical Workers struck the plant over a contract dispute. Picket lines remained today.

The union wanted more insurance benefits, average earnings for vacations and holidays instead of base pay, and other items.

Negotiations with federal mediator Charles Wheeler of Little Rock today yielded no settlement. Another meeting was scheduled for Friday.

Disinger said the company had to hire replacements for the strikers because of pressure from customers for delivery of electric motors on schedule.

Vandalism has increased since the strike began. Officials say there is no reason to suspect it is connected with the strike, but automobiles owned by non-strikers have been smeared with aluminum paint. In addition, a thrown rock shattered a plate glass window in a drive-in restaurant owned by Luther Jones, a maintenance worker at the plant who did not join the strike. A car owned by a former employee of the plant has been doused with enamel.

Disinger said strikers who do not return to their jobs must be replaced because the company has production schedules and customer commitments to meet. He has termed the strike, "an economic strike," and said he has legal grounds to discharge strikers.

Joe Thornton of Dallas, Tex., a field representative for the I.U.E., said Tuesday the union believes
"labor laws will not permit the company to replace employees in this dispute." Union representatives contend it is not an economic strike, and have said the issue will be settled "by due process of law." No action has yet been taken.

The union is seeking a new contract to include more insurance benefits, and average earnings for vacations and holidays instead of base pay, and other items.

Disputes over the contract have been going on since last year.

Probably Won't Want Car Back

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — The owner of a 1962 hardtop convertible found abandoned Tuesday probably won't want it back. All the accessories are missing.

Newton County Sheriff Guy Bennett said the missing "accessories" include the motor, transmission, rear end, all the wheels, the radio, speedometer and other instruments on the dash board.

In addition, Bennett said, the serial numbers were removed and the car turned on its top and burned.

Scholarship Voted by Jr. Auxiliary

In cooperation with a request from the National Association of cerning the work being done by

Crossett Co. to Sell for $126 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—The Geo-gia-Pacific Paper Co., which already has amassed one of the largest timber empires in the country, expects to have concluded its deal for the Crossett Co., and its 564,000 acres of timberland in southeastern Arkansas and northeastern Louisiana by July 9.

A New York spokesman for the Portland, Ore., firm said the $126 million deal was virtually assured by the Watzek family's decision to accept an offer of $55 a share for their 630,000 Crossett shares.

The other two major Crossett shareholders, the Gates family with 600,000 shares and the Cross-sett family with 300,000 shares, had pledged their stock previously.

Peter F. Watzek, Crossett president, earlier had termed the price per share too low.

"The effect of Watzek's decision to sell was to doom a rival bid for control of Crossett by Arthur Temple Jr., president of the Southern Pine Lumber Co., of Di-ball, Tex.

Temple, whose efforts became known last week, was reported to have made a private offer, later withdrawn, of $62 a share for a block of Crossett stock.

A price of $60 later was considered, but the 42-year-old Texan ran into legal complications and never put a formal proposition to Crossett stockholders generally.

Georgia-Pacific's offer, extended to all Crossett stockholders, expires July 2. The price of $55 a share is contingent on tender of a majority of outstanding Crossett shares.

The Georgia-Pacific spokesman personnel changes or future plans for Crossett would not be announced until official control has been achieved.

Georgia-Pacific last year sold $238,301,000 worth of lumber, plywood, paper, woodpulp, hardboard and chemicals to net $13,838,000.
The 35-year-old company owns about 15 million board feet scattered over one million acres in the Pacific Northwest, California and the Southeast.

Faubus Lines Up Campaign With Old Pals, New Ones Including Ex-Porker Star

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus set up his fifth term campaign force today, naming state Sen. Clarence Bell of Parker campaign manager and ex-University of Arkansas football star Lance Alworth youth campaign manager.

Mrs. Almon Faught of Jonesboro was named head of the women's division of the campaign.
Ted Morley of Little Rock was named associate campaign manager to Bell.

Bell, superintendent of schools at Parkin, managed Faubus' last campaign but opposed the governor during the 191 legislature on a "strange banking troika."

In a string of speeches in southeast Arkansas, Alford called the Highway Commission "an insult to all the people of Arkansas" because it is dominated by Gov.
Orval E. Faubus.

Alford charged that commissioners are appointed on a political patronage basis without consideration of equal representation for all the areas of the state.

In a speech over television station KFSA in Fort Smith Tuesday night, Whitten said Faubus, former governor Sid McMath and businessman W. R. Stephens made up the "banking troika."

Stephens is president and chairman of the board of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. McMath has charged that state funds are deposited in 27 banks owned or controlled by Stephens.

Whitten said he was the first gubernatorial candidate to suggest that banks be required to pay interest on deposits of state money, and he accused McMath of mimicking his (Whitten's) campaign plans.

Alford said if he is elected he will back an amendment to the Mack - Blackwell Amendment to provide for 11 commissioners, one from each of the state's 10 highway districts and one at large.

The present commission has only one member from south of the Arkansas River—Glen Wallace of Nashville, who was appointed by Gov. Francis Cherry.
Faubus named the other four commissioners.

Whitten called Stephens the "chain-banking governor" or the
"gas light Midas," and said
"These personalities in the banking troika are not really important. What is important is that you and I, as taxpayers, have a substantial amount of our money lying idle in banks throughout the state."

"This money earns no interest," Whitten said. "It is simply on deposit for the convenience of local bankers—for them to loan out and earn interest for themselves and not for you and me."

David A. Cox of Weiner told a Little Rock civic club the Arkansas Democratic Party needs cleaning up, but offered no solutions.
Cox also criticized Alford for not being in Washington when three controversial issues — the farm bill, foreign trade and the medical care bill—were voted on recently.

Faubus, who is seeking a fifth straight term, was scheduled to attend a breakfast at Harrison today, and then return to Little Rock to work on his campaign-opening speech Thursday night in El

Bockman Case Is Dismissed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The U.S.
Court of Appeals at St. Louis upheld Tuesday dismissal of a lawsuit in which James Bockman of Little Rock asked for reinstatement of his eclectic license to practice medicine in Arkansas.

Bockman filed a civil rights suit in federal District Court after the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the state Medical Board in revoking Bockman's eclectic license in 1957.

Federal district court dismissed the suit, which contended the medical board revoked Bockman's license because he is Jewish. The board contended Bockman had obtained the license by fraud and his religion had nothing to do with its decision.

Bockman practiced as an eclectic
in Helena and West Memphis.
He moved to Little Rock after his license was revoked.

Officials Told Estes Deals Outside Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators were told today the Agriculture Department had advanced warning Billie Sol Estes' get-rich-quick deals in cotton acreage allotments were outside the law.

Paul E. Kamerick, assistant counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, testified he has learned that the warning was given as far back as Dec. 20, 1960, and that every one of Estes' disputed cotton acreage deals was sanctioned at later dates by farm aid officials in Texas with no one in Washington calling a halt.

He said H. L. Manwaring, Agriculture Department deputy administrator of production adjustment, ruled on that date in 1960 that the complex deals under which Estes was to sell land to farmers, then lease back the cotton acreage allotments on these acres, appeared to constitute a scheme or device which should not be approved.

Kamerick, a former FBI agent, said he found the Agriculture Department to be a sort of bureaucratic jungle that needs an overhaul. But he said he considers it is inconceivable that inefficiency or carelessness alone could explain all that happened in the Estes case.

With Secretary of Agriculture
Orville L. Freeman a scheduled witness, Kamerick's testimony opened the Senate subcommittee's massive investigation of the scandals flowing from the collapse of Estes' Texas financial empire.

Freeman once said the Estes affair was being hallowed out of all proportion but later he was quoted by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., as saying he regretted the remark.

Re-assignments Not Complete

Superintendent Floyd Parsons said
Tuesday the Little Rock School Board would seek legal counsel before announcing the result of hearings on 40 requests for student re-assignments.

The board completed the hearings Tuesday.

Among the requests were those of 24 Negroes, all but one of whom desire re-assignment to formerly all-white schools. One is asking re-assignment from a formerly all-white school to an all - Negro school.

The assignments were made

Convicted Spy for Russia Is Now Missing

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Robert
A. Soblen, convicted spy who is due to surrender for a life sentence Thursday, was reported missing by his wife, the government said today.

Soblen, 62, was convicted of spying for the Soviet Union.

The government said his wife has reported him missing since Monday.

Federal Judge William B. Her-lands issued a bench warrant for Soblen's arrest on a motion by assistant U.S. Atty. David R. Hyde.
FBI agents were reported hunting for Soblen.

The judge also scheduled a hearing at which U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau is to ask that Soblen's $100,000 bail be forfeited.

East Germany Turns Down West Offer

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's communist leader Walter Ulbricht has rejected a Western proposal for four-power talks to prevent violence along the Berlin wall and promote free movement in the divided city.

Ulbricht told the East German Communist party's Central Comi-tee his regime is prepared to talk with West Berlin's city administration on "normalizing relations."

"This is a matter concerning East Germany and West Berlin, not the occupation powers," he said.

The four powers can only negotiate a removal of the occupation regime in West Berlin, Ulbricht added.

All that is needed to stop trouble along the wall, he continued, is to stop "border provocations" from West Berlin, stop "revengist and militarist" propaganda from West Berlin, and muzzle RIAS, the U.S.
radio station in the American sector of West Berlin.

Ulbricht's remarks were reported by ADN, the East German news agency.

The United States, Britain and France, in notes Monday to the Soviet Union proposing a meeting, accused East Berlin guards of killing defenseless people trying to flee to West Berlin. The notes said in all cases in which there had been an exchange of fire between West Berlin and East Berlin Guards, the East Berliners had fired first.

An explosion blew a hole in the Red wall Tuesday night at Kochstrasse, a few hundred yards from Checkpoint Charlie, the international crossing point into East Berlin.

West Berlin police said they did not know who set off the blast or what kind of explosive was used.
The police said the explosion knocked out more than 20 windows in a nearby West Berlin office building and created a sizable hole in a section of the wall that East German labor brigades had been reinforcing.

Comedian Loses $185,000 Jewelry

NEW YORK (AP)—The five-room hotel suite of comedian Jerry Lewis and his wife, Patti, was looted of $185,000 in jewels Tuesday night while they were at a studio taping a television show.

Police said there was no sign of a forced entry into the apartment, which had been ransacked.

Lewis said his wife was most distressed about losing a pendant worth a couple of hundred dollars, which he gave her 18 years ago
when they were married.

The jewelry was partly covered by insurance.

Police records indicated an estimated $300,000 worth of jewelry had been stolen from midtown hotels within the past two months.

There have been no arrests or recoveries in any of the cases.

Another sign of growing old is when the future gets here quicker than it used to.

Wilson Pitches No-Hitter for the Red Sox

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With thunderbolt swiftness matching the speed of his blazing fastball, Earl Wilson has zoomed to glittering stardom from the ranks of baseball's lesser known performers.

Tuesday night at Boston's Fenway Park, the Red Sox right-hander pitched the second no-hitter of the American League season—a 2-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels. Ironically, his defeated opponent was the year's other no-hit pitcher, fun-loving southpaw Bo Belinsky, who rocketed to fame with his master-piece over Baltimore May 5.

Wilson, a strong-armed ex-catcher from Ponchatoula, La., allowed four men to reach base on walks and struck out five as he "just threw as hard as I could all the way."

He also gave himself all the support he needed with his second home run of the year.

Although his record in seven previous seasons as a professional has been far from sensational, Wilson has been highly regarded as a potential star by the Red Sox brass. Now the tall, 220-pound Negro has shed the "potential."

Pitching also sparked elsewhere in the league. Cleveland salvaged a one-game lead in the standings, beating Detroit 3-1 on a combined four-hitter by Bob Hartman and Gary Bell and Al Luplow's 12th-inning homer after being blanked on six hits by Jim Bunning in the opener of the doubleheader, 6-0. Camilo Pascual struck out 12 and Rich Rollins did some heavy slugging as runner-up Minnesota trimmed New York 5-0. Mill Pappas of Baltimore fired a four-hit, 1-0 victory over Chicago. Kansas City rookie Dan Pflister won his first in the big time, edging Washington 2-1 with a six-hit performance.

All told, just 21 runs in six games—and four shutouts. In the National League—San Francisco regained first place, trimming Cincinnati 6-5 in 10 innings after Los Angeles had dropped a 2-1 decision to Milwaukee; Pittsburgh whipped New York 5-2; St. Louis crushed Chicago 15-3; and Philadelphia downed Houston twice, 2-0 and 6-4.

Like Belinsky, Wilson was an unlikely candidate for pitching stardom at season's start. He had been unimpressive in two previous short stays with the Red Sox—in 1959 and 1960—and was no better than 9-14 with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last year.

This season the strapping, 26-year-old Louisianan had failed to go the distance in nine starts, although he had done well enough to win five of seven decisions. "Los Angeles" only real threat of a hit came in the ninth when lead-off man Billy Moran lifted a pop fly to short left which Eddie Bros-soud snared with a running, over-the-shoulder catch. Two Angels managed to reach second base after walks.

Belinsky allowed just three hits in his seven innings but all three cost him. Wilson slugged his homer in the third, then singles by Pete Runnels and Carroll Hardy after an error gave Boston its

Union Co. Hospital

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A successful bid of $1,666,787 was submitted Tuesday by the Baldwin Co., of Little Rock for construction of a new 100-bed Union County Hospital at El Dorado. There were two other bidders. The Baldwin Co., submitted the apparent low bid of $2,176,602 in May, but all bids were rejected then as too high. Union County voters approved a $1,400,000 bond issue for the project, and federal Hill-Burton funds are expected to account for another $806,886.

second run.

Hartman made his first appearance for Cleveland since being brought up from the minors and held Detroit to three-hits—including a homer and single by Bubba Morton—through 10 innings. Then Bell won it by allowing a harmless single over the last two. Sam Jones was the hard-luck loser, lasting until the 12th when he gave way to Ron Nischwitz after a single by Ty Cline. Luplow promptly broke the long-standing tie with his fourth hit of the game and fifth of the night—the two-run homer.

Bunning also had a duel with Pedro Ramos in the first game until the seventh, when Dick McAuliffe homered with one on for the second hit off the Indian right-hander. Rocky Colavito made it a Tiger rout with a grand slam against Ramos in the eighth. Bunning struck out 10.

Rollins, whose average had skidded from .360 to .328 with only three hits in his eight previous games, got rich against Yankee starter Roland Sheldon. The Minnesota third baseman smashed homers his first two trips, both times with Lenny Green on base; then had a single off Sheldon and another off Bob Turley.

Pascual, winning his 11th against four losses, spaced nine hits, walked none and was at his curveballing best when it counted. He struck out Roger Maris three times and pinch hitter Mickey Mantle with the bases filled and one out in the ninth. It was the 11th loss in their last 16 games for the Yankees, who are only two percentage points ahead of the fourth-place Angels.

Baltimore won it in the last of the ninth again the White Sox and John Buzhardt when John Powell's single and two bunts loaded the bases and Charley Lau's 30-foot dribbler went for a hit. Pappas, now 8-3, pitched his fourth straight complete game.

Pflister turned in a neat six-hit and the lone Washington run was unearned. Manny Jimenez, the league's top batter at .346, drove in the A's deciding run with a third inning double off Los Angeles' Tom Cheney.

U.S. Favorite Eliminated at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., America's chief hope, was eliminated by an unranked Briton, Michael Hann, today in the second round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships. The score was 6-3, 8-2, 6-2.

McKinley, runnerup last year to champion Rod Laver of Australia, was the only seeded American in the men's division. He was seeded No. 5.

However, not once did he show signs of getting into the thick of the fight against Hann.

Hann is little known even to British tennis followers. He has never won a major tournament. He is not a member of the British Davis Cup team.

McKinley, 21, a Wimbledon favorite because of the enthusiasm of his play, had won his opening match easily on Monday. Observers had rated him a serious threat to the Australian domination of the event.

Only Tuesday another American, Billie Jean Moffitt, 18, was the winner in a major upset in the tournament's women's division.

Billie Jean—bespectacled and outspoken—pulled off the biggest shocker in the history of the women's division at Wimbledon Tuesday when she eliminated top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia in the first round, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5. It was the first time the top-seeded woman has been eliminated in the first round.

"Sometimes," the 5-6 Billie admitted today, "my weight gets up to 135 pounds. Then I've got to do something about it. The twist is a pretty good way to keep it down."

Miss Smith practically blasted Billie Jean off the court in the first set, but the Long Beach, Calif., girl came back with an inspired spell which took her to a 5-0 lead in the second. After closing it out, she promptly ran into trouble.

Miss Smith raised her service power and won the first game of the final set at love. She raced to a 3-0 lead and then led 5-3 and 30-15 on her service.

It looked all over, but at this point with the Australian rushing the net, Billie Jean pulled out an incredible backhand winner which scorched the sidelines.

She took the game held her service for 5-5 and then reeled off two more games for the great upset while Miss Smith struggled hopelessly with her confidence shattered.

Miss Moffitt started playing tennis in the public parks at the age of 11. Since then, such greats as Alice Marble have had hand in her coaching. "She is the only daughter of a California engineer."

In the next round Billie Jean meets Carole Caldwell from Santa Monica, Calif., who she describes as "my best friend and the girl who did a great deal to help me beat Margaret Smith."

Miss Caldwell defeated Florence de la Courje of France, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Darlene Hard and Karen Hantze Susman, the two American seeds, both stroled through their first-round matches.

Miss Hard (No. 2) defeated Ruth Illingworth of Britain 6-0, 6-2. Mrs. Susman (No. 8) cruised into the second round with a 6-2, 6-1 win over Spain's Maria Estalaga.

Deer and Cows Have a Lot in Common

Editor's Note: This is the sixth of a series of information articles pertaining to current deer management problems in Arkansas.

By Gus Albright
Arkansas Game and Fish Commission

Deer and cows—What do they have in common? What makes a deer different from a cow, other than appearance?

A deer is a ruminant and chews a cud. He is a plant eater. He is polygamous. He can develop pneumonia, brucellosis, become parasitized and die of starvation. He can destroy his range and food supply. A cow is all these things, also. What then is the difference?

A deer is wild and a cow is domesticated. This is the simple but all-important difference. Because the deer is wild, he provides recreation. He belongs to all citizens of the state; and he is extremely difficult to manage. Deer management becomes a two-fold problem because of the deer's inherent wildness. One part of the problem is deer—the other is people.

Basic deer management is not one bit different than livestock management. On the other hand, though, the management of the hunter is something entirely different, more in the realm of the psychologist than the biologist.

Because wild game belongs to all the people and domestic animal ownership is limited to individuals, the responsibility of deer management in Arkansas is vested in a public servant—the Game and Fish Commission.

Authorities tell us that good deer management is made of: Adequate inventories, proper protection, maintenance of suitable habitat and proper harvest. With only a little modification, we can extend this thought and say that good cattle-herd management is also made up of these same four phases.

If a deer is no different than a cow except for physical features and wildness, then it is obvious he must be managed just as intensively as a rancher manages his beef herd.

But because the deer is wild, he will be more than happy to stay around for the ceremony."

Her hands were trembling as she zipped her dress.

"Steady there girl. Get hold of yourself. You know that you must be a model of serenity today."

She wondered about her friends. She had often wondered if community opinion had been a factor. It had been Tom Kent and Margaret Davidson as naturally as bread and butter.

Her mother's voice interrupted her thoughts. "Better hurry dear. It's bad luck to be late for a wedding."

Margaret had avoided all thought of the girl from the city, the one Tom had brought home last Christmas. She was the sister of Tom's roommate there and Margaret knew that the three had been together much of the time since Tom had taken that job in the city.

"Only good friends," he had written to her. But Tom had been gone more than a year now. He had been fortunate in his work and had made good and she was proud of him.

Margaret knew that the girl and her brother had arrived in town a few days ago but she had avoided seeing her. She had steered herself to be completely apathetic toward this girl but Margaret knew that it was only to conceal her enmity toward her.

With her smart clothes and sleek black hair and large dark eyes she appeared very glamorous to the town folks. Margaret felt that all this sophistication was a pose to impress Tom's family and friends.

When she had visited during the holidays, Margaret had endeavored, for Tom's sake, to be gracious to her. She had returned that kindness by being cunningly patronizing.

At a party at Tom's home on Christmas eve she had cooed for the benefit of all present, "One of Tom's old girl friends, I presume?"

Tom quickly soothed the sting Margaret felt by putting his arm around her and replying so that all could hear, "She's the best pal a fellow ever had."

As she put on her hat, a wisp of feathers that displayed her brown curls, the blue eyes looking at her from the mirror became blurred with tears.

Margaret gave the image in the mirror one more survey as she pulled on her white gloves. She knew that she had never looked lovelier.

She threw a kiss at her reflection.

SOMETHING BLUE
By DOROTHY M. FLEMING

"Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue," Margaret mused as she slipped into the ice blue dress she had selected with so much sentiment for the wedding.

"Blue is my color today all right," she reflected. Tom had always liked her in blue. "Blue as your eyes," he used to say and usually rewarded her with a kiss when she wore his favorite blue.

As she looked out of the window she smiled to herself as she recalled another sunny day many years ago when she and Tom as children had been playing house and decided it was about time that they got married. As a winsome bride of four, she and Tom had ventured as far as the same little white church. The same one where the wedding bells would ring today. Her bridal gown, created from an old lace curtain, slowed their progress because every few steps the train became entangled in the high heels of her mother's old slippers. Tom had found a dejected derby which covered his ears. He had to tilt it back on his neck in order to see.

Her shy blush suddenly deepened into a red when the church door opened. Tom ran as if he were wearing seven-league boots while she, hindered by her train and awkward footwear, resorted to woman's universal defense—tears!

"Goodness me," chuckled the parson. "Brides do get hysterical when left at the church. But come back, honey, in 10 or 15 years and I reckon that young chap will be more than happy to stay around for the ceremony."

Her hands were trembling as she zipped her dress.

"Steady there girl. Get hold of yourself. You know that you must be a model of serenity today."

Dark's Strategy Pays Off for the Giants

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Dark's a genius. Or so it seemed Tuesday night as events unfolded at San Francisco, where the Giants' manager came up with a series of maneuvers resulting in a 6-5, 10-inning victory over Cincinnati that sent the Giants back into first place in the National League pennant scramble.

Dark made his first move in the seventh inning when the Giants, trailing 4-0, loaded the bases with pitcher Jack Sanford due at bat. Dark looked down his bench for a pinch hitter and selected Ed Bailey, hitless in his last 17 trips to the plate.

Bailey hit a grand slam homer—the first by a pinch hitter this season.

In the 10th, Dark's pre-game strategy paid off as Willie McCovey, inserted in the line-up against right-hander Joey Jay, opened with a single. Going to his reserves again, Dark sent Felipe Alou in to run for McCovey.

Alou broke from first as Orlando Cepeda rifled a single to right center, daringly rounded third as Vada Pinson fired the ball into the infield and decided to try and go all the way. He beat Don Blasingame's relay sliding under the tag with the winning run.

The triumph pushed the Giants back on top for the first time since June 8, a half-game ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who were limited to five hits by Lew Burdette in a 2-1 Milwaukee victory.

Third-place Pittsburgh whipped the New York Mets 5-2, trailing place St. Louis walloped the Chicago Cubs 15-3 and Philadelphia defeated Houston twice, 2-0 on Jack Hamilton's two-hitter and 6-4.

In the American League, Boston's Earl Wilson no-hit the Los Angeles Angels 2-0. First-place the problems of management are far more acute than with livestock.

If a disease breaks out in a herd of deer, we can't run them into a corral for a shot of penicillin.

When harvest time approaches, we can't pen them up and count the surplus.

Because we utilize the sportsmen instead of the Chicago stockyards to harvest our surplus we can't adjust sex and age kill right down to the last animal.

There is this conclusion, then, When man steps into the picture to utilize a resource—whether it's oil, gold, fish, soil, water or deer—management is necessary to maintain that particular resource at its optimum level.

And whether we like it or not, future deer management—including management of the hunter—will become more intensive in future years.

We manage first for the future. We have no other choice. It is a trust we must fulfill. The hunting of deer may be a day-to-day proposition, but management must be for the future.

On National Panel

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Desha County Sheriff Robert Moore participated in a panel discussion Tuesday on what a state association can do for its sheriffs. The discussion was a feature of the three-day National Sheriffs Association convention in New Orleans.

Tom quickly soothed the sting Margaret felt by putting his arm around her and replying so that all could hear, "She's the best pal a fellow ever had."

As she put on her hat, a wisp of feathers that displayed her brown curls, the blue eyes looking at her from the mirror became blurred with tears.

Margaret gave the image in the mirror one more survey as she pulled on her white gloves. She knew that she had never looked lovelier.

She threw a kiss at her reflection.

Cleveland dropped the opener of singles by Don Demeter and Frank Torre. A force out and a wild pitch by Colts' starter Dick Farrell (5-8). Art Mahaffey (9-8) stopped the Colts in the nightcap on seven hits, and drove in what proved to be the winning run with a single in a three-run fourth. Jim Golden (5-5) lost it.

After Bailey's grand slam tied it in the seventh, the Reds went back in front in the top of the eighth on a triple by Johnny Edwards and a single by pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Edwards earlier had hit a two-run homer. In the last of the eighth, Jim Davenport again knotted the score with a homer and set it up for the 10th inning fireworks that gave Stu Miller (4-3) the victory and Dave Sisler (2-3) the loss.

Burdette, who lost his first four decisions, won his sixth in a row with his fourth complete game. He lost his shutout in the ninth on Maury Wills' single, Jim Gilliam's double and Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly. Singles by Del Crandall and Frank Bolling around a walk accounted for the first run off Dodger starter Sandy Koufax (10-4) in the second. The Braves pushed across what proved to be the clincher in the sixth when Hank Aaron reached base on Wills' error, moved to third on Lee Maye's single and came across on a sacrifice fly by Frandall.

Rookie Donn Clendenon and Don Hoak each knocked in two runs as the Pirates won their seventh in eight games with the Mets. Clendenon got his pair with a triple and homer. The Mets collected only five hits off Joe Gibson, who left in the second with a jammed finger, and relievers Earl Francis (4-5) and Elroy Face. Willard Hunter (1-3) was the loser.

Four homers—by Gene Oliver, Billy White, Charley James and Ken Boyer—paced a 15-hit offensive that subdued the Cubs and enabled Ernie Broglio (3-3) to go the distance despite allowing 10 hits. The home runs by James and Boyer came in the eighth as the Cards exploded for their season high of nine runs. Dick Ellsworth (4-11) absorbed most of the punishment and the defeat.

Hamilton (5-5) got all the support he needed in the opener when the Phils scored ap air in the second on Clay Dalrymple's double,

Old Friend's New Wife Poses A Threat

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband had two flings since we married three years ago. The last was with the first wife of his best friend. Now the friend is married to a 19-year old and I fear history will repeat itself.

The gal throws a fit when her husband doesn't bring her over each day just to see how we're getting along. Then, while here, she picks on him continuously. This makes us edgy—to her de-light. He's a nice guy but so tight he squeaks when he walks. Worked steady seven years; my poor husband only four months. We don't own our home (they do). We have neither car, TV nor a bank account (they have).

Some days we've not even got enough money to buy groceries and still they stay to dinner. I'm sickened by the way she butters up my husband: how won-derful! how smart! how hand-some! Phooey! Last week she worked us up to such a pitch we were about to divorce but have since ironed out the differences and are a couple of newlyweds once more. This evening my heart sank when she and her hus-band walked in. He asked why we didn't call them anymore. I didn't answer. There we sat in silence for half an hour, then they went home.

My husband says he wants only me. For the sake of our baby I've got to believe him. Still he has that roving eye and there is this femme fatale. Am I being a wet blanket? —Uneasy Wife

Dear Uneasy: Continue your present tactics and you'll be handing your husband over to the femme fatale on a silver platter. Opposition only fans the flame. Give your man such a dose of this girl that he'll flee in terror at the sound of her very voice. Encourage her to drop by every day with that reluctant husband. Let them eat you out of house and home. The more miserable they make you and your husband, the better. Keep smiling and don't criticize. That girl's got the right technique. Do a little but-tering up yourself. Policing your husband will send him waltzing into her arms; praise into yours.

Dear Helen I am the middle child in a family of five kids. My two older sisters consider work beneath their dignity; my other sister is a little to young to do anything and my brother just a baby. So it's "Fetch this," and "Carry that," or "Do this," and "Don't do that," until I don't know whether I'm coming or go-ing. You should hear the yells when their commands aren't obeyed instantly.

Mom and Dad says, "Grow up. Tell them off." When I do, they say, "Cut the sexy act. Be your-self." If I try to talk it out as you advise, they say, "Don't wor-ry, this is just a stage you're go-ing through—adolescence."

If this keeps up, I'll run off. I'm the original ugly duckling crooked front teeth, poor com-plexion and wider than high. Per-haps if I were preffy, they wouldn't treat me like a cast-off. Please tell me what to do. —Mid-dle Child

Dear Middle: Don't forget that the ugly duckling became a beau-tiful swan. Ask your parents to take you to the dentist for braces or recapping of teeth; and to a doctor for a check-up. Overweight and poor complexion in a young girl indicate a glandular distur-bance. If this is not possible, see the physical director at school. To feel and look your best helps you to be your best self. That goes for young and old. If neces-sary, show your parents or physi-cian culture director your letter and my answer.

Dear Helen: During a recent separation from my husband, I saw quite a bit of a boy in his neighborhood. A few weeks ago my husband and I were recon-ciled. Then he learned that the boy had my phone number and went back to his folks without a word to me. I tried to tell him that I've neither seen nor heard from the boy in some time but he won't believe me. I'm near crazy for it's him, not that other boy, I love. What can I do? —Heartbroken Wife

Dear Heartbroken: Your hus-band ran home to Mama and Papa because he is emotionally insecure. Judging from your let-ter you may be too. Teen-age marriages go on the rocks for this very reason. Unless you both grow up emotionally, you're head-ing for trouble. To be adult is to accept responsibility without flinching; profit by criticism and have the courage of your mis-takes. If your husband refuses to talk, try reaching him through his parents. Why did you first sepa-rate?

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to en-close as stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Jealousy."

For greater protection against sunburn, Sulzberger said, the goal is a chemical which will become incorporated in the skin's surface and enhance its capacity to filter out the burning rays.

A major avenue of approach, the Army dermatologist said, is intensive study of the differences between skin of people who naturally attract insects and others whose body chemistry repels them.

After going to Rio de Janeiro, Gilbert said he used the money withdrawn from the Bruce firm to buy stock in Celotex. No charge has been lodged against Gilbert. The Manhattan district attorney's office is investigating the case.

After the premier departed, Souphanouvong took off for Khong Khay, saying he wanted to clear up some administrative matters. Before Souvanva's departure, the Cabinet:

1. Proclaimed an immediate cease-fire throughout Laos, thus ending in effect at least the 22-month civil war during which the Pathet Lao has taken over about two-thirds of the kingdom.

2. Formed a delegation representing all three factions to go to Geneva and sign the 14-nation accord on Laos guaranteeing the country's neutrality. Souvanva isn't expected to attend the final session of the conference which the Western powers want to reconvene July 2.

Police charged Ferrell L. Thomas, 20, of Texarkana with the theft of 21 cars from nine parking lots in the past five months.

Officers said Thomas explained that he took the cars so he and his girl friend could go riding. After the rides, police said, Thomas would abandon the cars on deserted streets.

Thomas, officers said, had collected about 20 keys that fit General Motors makes of cars produced in 1954 or earlier.

Thomas was on probation for a two-year suspended sentence for car theft when he was arrested, officers said. A search for a stolen car led to his arrest.

Armor Skin Studied by Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army medical scientists are on the track of chemicals which may convert a soldier's skin into armor against disease-bearing insects and sunburn.

The research is especially important to military operations in Southeast Asia and other tropical areas where Western troops are vulnerable to certain types of fevers and strong sunlight.

The work is being done under a broad program aimed at giving each soldier entering a combat zone his own built-in shield against diseases, climate, and various kinds of stresses.

Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger of the Army's Medical Research and Development Command said a big effort is being made to discover special substances which would enter the skin after being swallowed or applied on the outside.

These substances, he said in a paper, would make the skin's surface and its secretions repellent to insects, flies, mosquitoes and ticks, which carry most of the important diseases affecting military operations.

A major avenue of approach, the Army dermatologist said, is intensive study of the differences between skin of people who naturally attract insects and others whose body chemistry repels them.

For greater protection against sunburn, Sulzberger said, the goal is a chemical which will become incorporated in the skin's surface and enhance its capacity to filter out the burning rays.

A more remote prospect involves developing chemicals that would enable the skin to withstand the white-hot flash from a nuclear explosion.

Sarlie Back, Denies Any Wrongdoing

NEW YORK (AP) - Financier Jacques Sarlie, who had dealings with Wall Streeter Edward M. Gilbert, has returned from Paris and denies he left the United States to defraud creditors - as alleged by a brokerage firm.

Sarlie disclaimed liability Sunday for $754,770 of stock ordered purchased on his account during Gilbert's efforts to hold onto one company and acquire another. Gilbert is now in extradition-proof Brazil.

Sarlie denied charges made in a State Supreme Court suit filed last Thursday by the brokerage firm of McDonnell & Co. that he had left the country to defraud creditors.

Sarlie, 47, returned to New York by plane Saturday night.

In a statement through his counsel, Justin N. Feldman, Sarlie said:

"McDonnell & Co., improperly and without authority from me took orders from Gilbert to buy shares of Bruce and Celotex which it charged to my account. They had no more right to do so than they did to spread the story that I had 'fled' the country."

"I left New York on June 9, on a scheduled business trip from which I was scheduled to return this weekend. At the time that McDonnell's charges were filed in court and published by the newspapers across the country, their lawyers and mine had already conferred several times over a period of several days and they were well aware of my scheduled return this weekend."

Gilbert was president of the E. L. Bruce Co., producer of hardwood flooring. He resigned and flew to Brazil June 12 after disclosing he had made unauthorized withdrawals of $1,953,000 from the Bruce firm, which he was trying to hold in control.

Gilbert had been trying to gain control of the Celotex Corp., manufacturer of building materials.

Feldman said Gilbert-like Sarlie had a stock account with McDonnell & Co.

Feldman said Sarlie became aware about May 31 that Gilbert had made a purchase on his account of about $3,000 in Bruce stock.

Feldman said Sarlie was not aware that further purchases on his account had been made on June 6, 7 and 8 until he received word from McDonnell & Co. while he was in Paris.

After going to Rio de Janeiro, Gilbert said he used the money withdrawn from the Bruce firm to buy stock in Celotex. No charge has been lodged against Gilbert. The Manhattan district attorney's office is investigating the case.

After the premier departed, Souphanouvong took off for Khong Khay, saying he wanted to clear up some administrative matters. Before Souvanva's departure, the Cabinet:

Laos Reds Want U.S. Troops Out

By ANTOINE YARED
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) - A pro-Communist Cabinet minister denounced the presence of U.S. troops in Thailand Sunday shortly after Premier Prince Souvanva Phouma turned leadership of his day-old coalition over to his Red-leaning half-brother.

Information Minister Phoumi Vongvichit called a news conference as soon as Souvanva's plane had left for France. Claiming to speak for the regime, he denounced the U.S. troops as a threat to "the peace and neutrality of Laos."

"The government of national union protests against the American troops landings in Thailand," declared Vongvichit, a member of Prince Souphanouvong's pro-Communist Pathet Lao faction.

It was not known whether Souvanva knew Vongvichit was going to issue the statement. The neutralist premier had shrugged off the dispatch of U.S. troops to neighboring Thailand as a precautionary measure.

The official minutes of Sunday's initial Cabinet session, over which Souvanva presided, carried no mention of U.S. troops.

U.S. officials had no immediate comment. The United States has said repeatedly the U.S. troops, landed after the Pathet Lao made big military gains in northern Laos, had come at Thai request to protect Thailand, not Laos.

Vongvichit said later the Cabinet did discuss extending recognition to the Communist government of Red China, East Germany and Poland. He said no decision was taken.

Any foreign policy decision can be vetoed by any of the three factions represented in the coalition - neutralist, pro-Communist and right-wing.

Laos now has diplomatic relations with Nationalist China, but a Red Chinese mission has been operating for some time at Souphanouvong's headquarters in Khong Khay.

Before leaving to attend a daughter's wedding in Paris, Souvanva cautioned his half-brother not to stir things up while he was gone.

"I am counting on you," said the neutralist premier, kissing Souphanouvong on both cheeks. "I do not want to come back earlier."

After the premier departed, Souphanouvong took off for Khong Khay, saying he wanted to clear up some administrative matters. Before Souvanva's departure, the Cabinet:

1. Proclaimed an immediate cease-fire throughout Laos, thus ending in effect at least the 22-month civil war during which the Pathet Lao has taken over about two-thirds of the kingdom.

2. Formed a delegation representing all three factions to go to Geneva and sign the 14-nation accord on Laos guaranteeing the country's neutrality. Souvanva isn't expected to attend the final session of the conference which the Western powers want to reconvene July 2.

Police charged Ferrell L. Thomas, 20, of Texarkana with the theft of 21 cars from nine parking lots in the past five months.

Thomas was on probation for a two-year suspended sentence for car theft when he was arrested, officers said. A search for a stolen car led to his arrest.

Reprimand Issued in Estes Case

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Agriculture O. E. Freeman announced today a formal reprimand of Thomas H. Miller, a department official, in connection with a report in the Billie Sol Estes case.

Freeman said he ordered the formal reprimand because of Miller's failure "to reveal that he prepared a report under instructions from a superior recommending that cotton allotments in the Estes case be allowed to stand for 1961 and subsequent years."

Miller is acting Southwest area director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Freeman said Miller now states that the recommendation he, Miller, made was contrary to his own judgment, and that it was made at the direction of Emory E. Jacobs, former deputy administrator, A.S.C.S., who resigned April 13.

Freeman said Miller has advised the department in an affidavit that Jacobs instructed him to write a memorandum justifying a departmental decision "to permit Billie Sol Estes to retain all of the cotton allotments he had acquired at that time."

Freeman's reprimand was announced at the Agriculture Department shortly after a congressional probe of the Estes case was resumed. It brought testimony from a consultant to Commercial Solvents Corp., that his first impression of Estes was that he was "extremely ambitious and might, if not controlled, 'over-expand.'"

James A. McConnell, the consultant, told a House subcommittee that never at any time did he contact anyone in the Department of Agriculture seeking any action in connection with Estes' operations or his relations with Commercial Solvents.

The New York chemical company extended to Estes millions of dollars in credit and enabled him to get into the lucrative business of storing surplus grain owned by the government.

McConnell, former head of surplus grain operations in the Agriculture Department, said he resigned that job in 1956 to become a director and consultant for Commercial Solvents.

He told of inspecting Estes' West Texas farming operations in October 1959.

"Estes appeared to be an excellent customer (for liquid fertilizer) and Commercial Solvents was anxious to keep him," McConnell said. During the 1959 visit, he added, "nothing happened which caused us to have any question about the integrity of Estes."

McConnell has a hoarse voice and his prepared statement was read by his lawyer, William A. Sutherland.
